

WWE and Our 2008 Initiatives

In the midst of keeping up with numerous teaching/consulting opportunities, Winning With Encouragement is hard at work producing 4 new products which the board and staff believe will bring encouragement and challenge to thousands in the coming days. Here is a brief description of those items:

A book to encourage people to become encouragers

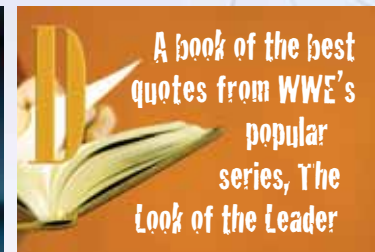

A video series for small groups all about Israel

A state of the art video series produced for small group study

A book of the best quotes from WWE's popular series, The Look of the Leader

A. The working title is Encouragement: The Art Of Giving, The Joy Of Receiving. This book will remind readers about the importance of encouraging others. It will discuss the 4 ways to be a significant contributor in someone else's life. It will also contain over 20 real-life stories of how everyday, ordinary people used one of the principles discussed in the book to offer to another the very thing they needed more than anything else... encouragement.

B. It's called Bringing Israel To You. There are many more Christians longing to go to the land of the Bible than are able to go. This video series will take the viewers to the most popular Biblical sites in Israel where they will hear an entertaining, historical, archeological and geographical explanation of where they are and what they are seeing. And when the Scripture is read accompanied by a devotional thought and challenge, they will be made to feel as though they are standing next to a Bible character in a place they have only heretofore read and heard about. A participant's guide will accompany the series so viewers can discuss their reflections on each site.

C. This video series is entitled Finding Encouragement In A Discouraging World and will discuss what and who our society says is important compared to what God thinks. Some of the sessions will be videoed at locations in Israel where Jesus noticed and commented on someone or something He saw as important. The package will feature eight 15-20 minute teaching sessions as well as a leader's guide and participant's guide containing questions for the purpose of eliciting group discussion.

D. A book containing the best quotes from WWE's video series, The Look of the Leader. It is called What The Leader In You Needs To Hear. It will include everyone's favorite: "Confidence is the feeling you have just before you understand the situation," and countless others that participants have always desired to note. Each thought-provoking, humorous quote will be listed to correspond with the 5 characteristics of Biblical leadership as discussed in the series.

Recent Holy Land Tours

SCOTTSDALE CHRISTIAN ACADEMY VISITS ISRAEL AND JORDAN May 30 - June 11, 2008

A group of 45 individuals associated with Scottsdale Christian Academy of Phoenix, AZ, traveled throughout the countries of Israel and Jordan. The tour was led by Walt Wiley of WWE and Micha Ashkenazi of Bible Oriented Tours. SCA faculty member Sharon Komar who organized the group already plans to return to Israel with another group in 2011.

WWE'S ISRAEL PILGRIMAGE June 16-26, 2008

Arriving just a few days after the above tour finished was another group comprised of 34 individuals—many associated with Tree of Life Christian Schools in Columbus, OH and organized by their superintendent, Lezlee Knowles. They joined Walt and Patti Wiley of WWE along with Micha Ashkenazi of Bible Oriented Tours for a journey around the land of Israel.

WWE invites you to join us on a Holy Land pilgrimage. Check our website for upcoming tours: www.wweministries.org.

WWE FORMS NEW "COUNCIL OF ENCOURAGERS"

The Board of Directors of Winning With Encouragement has announced the formation of the Council of Encouragers. This move took place at the WWE Board of Directors meeting held in Charlotte, NC on May 16, 2008. Speaking on behalf of the board, Chairman Jo Shippen stated that this hand-picked group is made up of friends of the ministry from around the country. Their willingness to have their names attached to WWE indicates their wholehearted belief in WWE. It also signals their alignment with the purposes of the ministry and their satisfaction with how the ministry is viewed and conducts itself in the marketplace. The group will serve as prayer supporters and advisors. Chairing this group are long time friends of WWE who were directly involved in the founding of the ministry, Brett and Eveline Butler of Scottsdale, AZ. The list of Council members is included on the outside of the newsletter.

In this issue of The Winner we have placed an envelope that we hope you will see and use. In order to complete the initiatives described in our lead article, we will need additional funding. If you would like to assist us and encourage us, please use the envelope to send us a tax deductible gift. It would be greatly appreciated.

The Wit & Wisdumb of Walt Wiley

Are you familiar with the word eschatology? It's a fun word to say, the kind of word that pops up at a spelling bee. It's also the kind of word that comes in handy when you are trying to impress your friends. Seriously, the next time there is a lull (there's another fun word) in a conversation, throw this out there, "So, Herb, where do you stand on eschatology?" Actually, eschatology is a Bible doctrine, a branch of theology concerned with the final events in the history of the world or of mankind.

To me it appears that eschatology is the most popular of all the doctrines of the Bible. People interested in the Bible get all excited when it comes to studying, investigating, debating, imagining or assuming what will take place at the end of the world. When a group of people are involved in a Bible study and the question comes up of what topic to discuss, inevitably someone will mention the book of Revelation or anything about the end times. There is something surreal, inexplicable, even mysterious about future events. It's an innate thing; how else do you explain the popularity of palm readers, tea leaf readers, tarot cards, horoscopes or psychics? And have you heard about ouija boards?

Know what? Get ready! Eschatology is my least favorite Bible doctrine. I believe the Bible; in it's entirety it is God's Word, God-breathed, inspired by Him and relevant for today. I have my favorite sections, but the references to end-times are my least favorites. Attempts at trying to draw conclusions about specifics concerning the end times has created schisms in marriages, friendships, churches, denominations and countries. What's really amazing is no one really knows the answers to most of the questions brought on by a study of the end times. However, this has never prevented people from bold conclusions, outlandish declarations and insane predictions. The city of Haifa in Israel is a modern city by Israeli standards. Know how it got started? A German theologian with a hearty following predicted the return of the Lord in 1900, so he and his followers emigrated there to be on hand for when it happened. They settled in and unknowing helped create what has become the third largest city in that country. And during this period they anxiously and confidently awaited what someone had told them was going to happen. Whoops! Their descendants live there today.

A few weeks ago I was standing on the Mount of Olives with a group of people and was referencing the Bible and the times it mentioned the very place where we were standing. You can't do that there without mentioning Zechariah who 2,500 years ago said, "And in that day His feet will stand on the Mount of Olives, which is in front of Jerusalem on the east; and the Mount of Olives will split in the middle from east to west by a very large valley..." (Zechariah 14:4). Biblical references such as that raise a lot of questions. So does Revelation 16:16, which we read when we were staring at the Valley of Armageddon.

My own position on all of this end-times stuff? When will the events described in the Bible take place? I have no idea! Why has God chosen to do things this particular way? Beats me! Who will be involved when it happens? Your guess is as good as mine! How will God pull this off? This is a question?

Let me tell you what our position should be. We should concentrate on things that are more important. Things like believing these unexplainable events will actually take place, maybe sooner than later. Things like being concerned about our behavior and whether it honors the name of the God of creation, our Savior. Things like being diligent about telling others about their own need of a Savior in order for them to be prepared. As to the details, I'll stop surmising... and leave that up to Him.
